

GRAFTERS FAIL TO MAKE GOOD

Frightened American Party Leeches Issue Orders That Excite Lawbreakers.

SALOONS CLOSE ON SUNDAY

EVEN CANDIDATE MULVEY'S INFLUENCE FAILS TO WORK.

Professional gamblers and saloon men who have been paying more than $500 a week to somebody in the American party administration, threatened an immediate revolt against the inner circle of graft yesterday when they were informed by the police that they must close for a day.

The only explanation made when the orders were given was that the people of the city were getting "wise," but the saloon men and gamblers were told that as soon as The Herald-Republican let up on its fight against the "arrangement" they might open.

Most of the gamblers had paid their assessments Saturday, paying in advance for carrying on their illegal business for a week without interference from the police, and the order to close for a day at least came as a most unwelcome surprise.

It was only a few minutes after the first order to close up for the day had been given before the gamblers and saloon men were busy calling on M. E. Mulvey, "gambling boss" of the American party organization and candidate for councilman from the Fifth precinct. Mulvey explained that he was in the same boat and until Monday, at least, he could do nothing for them. Mulvey further called their attention to the fact that he had actually been made to close his bar—the first Sunday it had been really closed for many months.

The gamblers got in touch with each other last night, meeting in one of the rooms in Main street, where they discussed the situation and appointed a committee to investigate and make a report today as to whether the Salt Lake City administration would "stay bought" and when they might open for business again. Mayor J. S. Brantford, who has been aware of the open gambling and violation of the law by the saloon men for months, refused to make any comment on the order, and the announcement of his determination not to say a word about the wholesale violation of the law and the use of the police department to collect the hush money indicated that he had already consulted the inner circle on the matter and, incidentally, received his orders.

POLICE STORIES PROVED UNTRUE

Weak Attempt Is Made to Boost Badly Shattered Reputation.

In their efforts to build up a case in substantiation of their claim that the murderers of Officer C. C. Riley have been caught, the police have circulated unfounded and ridiculous stories concerning the actions of E. E. Kennedy and L. E. Driskell, now under arrest. It was given out Saturday by the chief of police that the two men would have been captured the night of the murder in the American house had not Frank Woods, a negro, held the door of a room which the police were attempting to enter while Kennedy and Driskell escaped. The negro in question was in the city jail at the time of the murder, on suspicion of having beaten and robbed a negro. Later he was given a fender out of the city, and is now at Escalante.

The police also gave out the information that while the negro held the door of room No. 44 in the American house, Kennedy and Driskell, by means of a fire escape at a rear window, escaped from the building. The nearest fire escape is about fifty feet away from the window in question, thus making the story a farce.

As a matter of fact, the claims of the police that they have ferreted out enough evidence to trace Kennedy and Driskell from the morning of the murder until their arrest October 16, are without foundation. The identifications of the men by various witnesses of the murder furnish the only evidence against them, so far as the local police are concerned. Some circumstantial evidence of considerable note has been gathered by the Oregon authorities who arrested the couple, and without which the local police would still be at sea.

Needless to say, Kennedy and Driskell will be railroaded, guilty or not, to save whatever may be left of the shattered reputation of the American party police force.

DRUM CORPS MEETING.
The members of the Republican drum corps will report for duty to-night (Monday) at 7 p. m. at headquarters, 32 Richmond street, by order of S. N. RANDOLPH, Manager.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Ben Lloyd, chairman of the Citizens' Democratic joint committee, issued a call yesterday for a general convention meeting at headquarters tomorrow evening. At this meeting the various precinct committees and district chairmen are expected to be present and general plans for the campaign will be outlined.

Attempts on the part of the American party city committee to get speakers for a series of meetings proposed for this week have brought the organization to a decided realization of the weakness of the party and the dissonance caused by the loss of the real workers for Lloydman. Although J. E. Darmer has to all appearances "made up" with the man he is supposed to be battling for mayor, the general air around headquarters is far from enthusiastic whenever the name of Brantford is heard.

Republican workers generally took a day off yesterday and Chairman F. C. Looftour and Secretary Farley Jensen spent only an hour or two at headquarters. Senator George Sutherland was a caller early in the afternoon and he expressed his pleasure at the result of the second canvass, which is now completely tabulated.

Members of the various precinct committees of the Republicans and Democrats held informal discussions yesterday regarding possible fusion. The Republican of the Fourth precinct will meet to-night to fill their ticket for council, and other meetings will probably be called by the Citizens and Democrats for to-night.

ERAS IN THE CHURCH HISTORY

Forces Which Have Been in Operation Mentioned by Pastor.

The church and its connection with history was the basis of an interesting sermon delivered last night by the Rev. Louis S. Bowerman at Immanuel Baptist church before a large congregation. He particularized upon the second and third chapters of Revelations, of which book he said:

"The book was Christ's final word for the church until he came again. There has not been, neither, indeed, will there be, another revelation during that which he, known as the Gospel era. The title of the book is very suggestive—'The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto Him to show unto His servants, even the things which shortly must be coming to pass.'"

Mr. Bowerman said: "The book is one of the most comforting powers. The final issue is one of triumph. Glorious victory awaits the host of God; most disastrous defeat awaits those who will not forsake sin and follow righteousness."

"In the era of the Smyrnan period you have the times of great tribulation, in historians note ten great and distinct outbursts of wrath on the part of those against the church. The church has not yielded to the onslaughts of the world, Satan, not being able to overcome, is trying a new method. In the next era you see the change brought about under the form of the woman Jezebel. The world and the church are becoming one, state and church are uniting. You have here introduced the 'rest,' or, rather, the 'remnant.' The punishment of the children you will find in the story of the crusades."

"In the era of Sardis you find the result of the process of the former era. The church has a name to live, but it is dead. It is the story of a great name, but a dead church—the middle ages. Spiritually the church is dead. Only here and there are to be found the few faithful witnesses."

"In the era of Philadelphia you come to the time of opened doors. You have the story of the reformation and the great missionary activity. The little power and the keeping of the word and the not denying of the master's name are the causes of conquest. We believe that we are still in this era, though possibly on the border land of passing over into the seventh, the Laodicean era. This will be the final, the age of wealth and position, the time of perfectly fancied security, of great ease and contentment."

"Some will be zealous, many will be cold; the result of the mass is that of lukewarmness. One part neutralizes the other. The picture closes with Christ standing at the door. He is knocking and his return is imminent. This is then the unfolding picture."

CHRISTMAS WILL BE HERE ALMOST BEFORE WE REALIZE IT. WITH THE RUSH and EXCITEMENT INCIDENT TO THE MERRY DAY OF GIVING

Keith-O'Brien Co. began laying plans for Christmas early in the summer.

Preparation must be thorough.

The markets must be visited.

Our buyers must deal direct with mills and factories, that agents' and wholesale profits be eliminated.

Selections of a multiplicity of articles on a big scale must be made.

Every advantage in purchasing must be taken; quantities and freights considered.

For Keith-O'Brien Co. must anticipate the wants of many thousands of people. Must carry in stock that very thing which one's fancy might suggest; there must be wide assortments to encourage one to take plenty of time to look around, and if the inspection proves entertaining one becomes delighted, impressed and tempted—and purchases.

500 GUARANTEED SILK PETTICOATS FOR 500 LUCKY WOMEN

They are such beauties—the taffeta silk being of unusual merit, a first-class, long-wearing, lustrous, heavy taffeta silk; not a pin hole—a close weave—a better taffeta than is usually found in petticoats. The guarantee is emphatic: Should the silk split or crack within three months from date of purchase, we agree to replace it with a new skirt, provided the defective skirt is returned with the ticket. Every skirt is numbered and shows date of purchase.

Without question, this store does the biggest petticoat business in Salt Lake—no mistake in a petticoat bought at this store.

New Hats for Wear With Tailored Suits

Having this highly commendable feature: Simplicity of Design

This note of simplicity runs through the full range of all our street styles—from the exquisite French Hats to those most moderately priced.

The demand for these simple effects is unmistakable. The shapes are influenced by the prevailing styles.

Their chicness depends, first of all, upon the outlines; and the simplicity of the trimmings shows a fine appreciation of the importance of every outline.

Novelties are much sought after, it being necessary that the little trimming used should give tone and individuality to the design. Exclusive novelties of our own importation heighten the effectiveness of these hats.

The range includes practically everything to be called for in materials and shapes, and in colors harmonizing with those used in street suits.

The prices may be said, in each case, to be fairly marked, insuring in every style a satisfactory value—$5.00, $7.50, $10.00, $15.00 and up.
